

October 26, 2011 – Regular Meeting Comments:

The article by Terry Last (<http://www.dchieftain.com/dc/index.php/news/4097-co-op-ready-to-announce-job-opening-for-attorney.html> ) really does cover the topic very well with one exception. Information on almost all topics on the agenda is forwarded to the Trustees before the meeting but the Trustees with a few exceptions do not read that information which leads to lengthy discussion covering questions already answered in the prepared data. One Trustee claimed that "he worked for a living" when called on the fact that the Board was unprepared. The SEC Board of Trustees is also a "job" and a well paid one at that. Members of that board should step up to their responsibilities and stop wasting the member's time and money.