

Notice to Socorro Electric Cooperative Members

The Socorro Electric Cooperative has always maintained the confidentiality of member addresses, phone numbers, e-mail addresses, bank records, and all other member account information. Members of other electric cooperative have been the victims of scams that resulted in financial losses to individual members of those cooperatives, when their personal information was obtained by criminal interests.

Recently, by court order pursuant to a lawsuit brought by certain members of The Socorro Electric Cooperative, the SEC has been ordered to release member information upon demand. Once this information has been provided, the SEC loses control of its use, but the SEC must comply with the court order. Any contact you may have from persons with your member information has resulted from this court decision. If you believe that any contacts are of a suspicious nature, please be sure to inform the appropriate authorities, either local or federal.
